

LORI LATHAM

Paintings to Escape Into

INTRODUCTION

I am an intuitive abstract painter living in Portland, Oregon with over 30 years of experience. My paintings have been placed locally in a variety of corporate collections and in national and international private collections.

I paint abstract landscapes and 'Colorsplash' abstract paintings. By working back and forth between these two styles, I enjoy exploring how each influences the other.

I am known for my use of color and skill at creating rich textural surfaces. Experimenting with a variety of non-traditional painting tools and paint viscosities is key to my technique. I find it exciting to ask the question "what would happen if...". The answer to that question brings me to the studio.
